

Casey Station

Australian Antarctic Territory

The Expeditioners of Casey have much pleasure to invite

Patti Lucas

to attend their

Mid-Winter Dinner

On the 21st June, 2006

The day's celebrations will begin at 1000 hrs. After a bracing swim at the wharf followed by welcoming drinks, dinner will be served in the "Wallow" by our award winning celebrity chef.

You are also invited to stay for the Casey - 2006 Mid-Winter Concert. A variety show of poetry, song, music and short plays that will leave you astonished (never a truer word spoken!)

Unfortunately you will need to supply your own transport, at least to the Casey Ice Edge or the Wilkins International Runway. Never fear, sea ice conditions in June are usually suitable for fly-off by long range helicopter from your own yacht. Return fuel for helicopters can be provided from station - but, being a proud Australian Government facility, this will be charged at cost.

You are also most welcome to stay at Casey - for days, weeks or even months of near 24 hr darkness and bitter cold - and share in the happy day to day life on an Antarctic Research Station.
